Introduction to Holistic Bioenergetic Medicine, Bioresonance Therapy and other related topics

03/04 March 2012 (Lincoln)
24/25 March 2012 (Ambleside)

In this seminar you will learn a proven diagnostic and therapeutic system for success in the daily practice of Holistic Bioenergetic Medicine. The seminar includes introductions to both Bioresonance Therapy and the bioenergetic test method of applied kinesiology.

With the help of many practical exercises you will immediately be able to integrate this information into your own practice and enhance your success with your acutely and chronically ill patients.

Cross-linked Test Technique 'Key Seminar' The Logic of the Human Cybernetic Feedback Systems

27 – 31 March 2012 (Ambleside)

We will show you how to make sense of the apparent chaos of the illnesses of your patients with chronic multi-system multi-symptom disorders. Based on your new in depth understanding, we will show you how to create logical, systematic and successful treatment plans.

You will learn practice-proven diagnosis and therapy protocols and how to incorporate them into your daily practice of holistic bioenergetic medicine. This will allow you to quickly achieve permanent and successful therapeutic outcomes.

Holistic bioenergetic medicine focuses on activating the self-healing powers of the body. This is an energy consuming process which requires a good level of energy as well as good functioning of the body's cybernetic feedback systems. It is therefore important for you to understand and consistently apply the basic therapeutic principles that increase vitality, strengthen the interactions of the biocybernetic feedback systems, and strengthen the body's powers of self-healing. It is equally important to understand and follow the basic life-style recommendations of the 'Therapeutic House' as they are essential for the restoration and maintenance of good health.

You will learn the foundational procedures of the Cross-linked Test Technique, the revolutionary possibilities available through 5 Elements and Meridian testing, the mechanism of acid-base balance in the body, and the procedures for strengthening and stabilizing the organs.

We will show you how to consistently integrate your diagnostic findings into the Master Treatment Plan and thus treat your patients with lasting success. Advanced allergy therapy and auto aggression therapy will provide an introduction to pathological processes and conclude this seminar.

We will integrate this knowledge into the naturopathic paradigm of body, mind and soul so that you are able to build your own 'Therapeutic House'.

Seminar Programme

Intensive Bioresonance Training in the Lake District

Bioenergetic Test Methods 01 – 04 April 2012 (Ambleside)

This seminar consists of two parts. For the first three days we will teach the bioenergetic test methods of Electro Acupuncture (EAV), applied kinesiology and the biotensor. You will learn how to integrate these three methods to create a testing procedure that is fast, comprehensive, consistently accurate and verifiable. We will devote the fourth day to the evaluation of the data obtained by EAV testing and how to use this information in the creation of successful therapies. Even the best therapies are useless if they cannot be verified with reliable testing. The foundation of a successful practice is the ability to test with consistent, reproducible and accurate results. This is essential for testing the patient's energetic status, allergies, remedies, toxic and pathogenic information, therapy options, etc. We will show you the advantages and disadvantages of each of the test methods and the great benefits that are available by combining them. We will show you how to interpret your test results and use your findings to create logical and effective therapies.

Once you have learned effective testing methods, it is necessary to evaluate the results in a systematic and accurate way. Although test results may appear confusing at first, we will show you how to interpret them in order to understand your patient's current status and logically structure your therapy steps. By the conclusion of this seminar you will be able to reliably use fast and accurate testing to confidently determine the most effective therapy.

We will show you how to correlate the tested EAV values with your patient's medical history and use this as the basis for your diagnostic conclusions. You will learn how to quickly identify which parameters need further testing so that you can consistently find the best therapeutic approach. The intent of this part of the seminar is to reveal the extraordinary possibilities that are made available through the systematic evaluation of the results of electro acupuncture testing. You will be amazed at the wealth of therapeutically useful information that is provided by accurate EAV testing and the comprehensive and logical understanding of the test results.

Since our practical exercises will be with the seminar participants themselves, we will have a wealth of different test results to work with. Even those who are already proficient in EAV testing will appreciate this intensive seminar and gain new practical knowledge.
